

Make Roadrunner of the Year

What a year it has been for Oyster Bed Bridge's Alex Bain, winner of the 2013 Male Roadrunner of the Year award!

Congratulations Alex!

2013 was by far Alex Bain's most impressive year, topping it off with a PEI marathon performance that waltzed him directly to the 2015 Boston marathon!

Some stats:

PB'd at more than half of the chip timed races (Cox & Palmer, Friendship Run, and Dunk River Run & the PEI Marathon) as well as the TOSH 10 Miler and the Harvest Fest.

Harvest Fest: Alex finished in 1:45:50 beating his 25 km PB, 2:43 faster than in 2011 and coming in 5th out of 73 runners.

He took 1:24 of his PB at the TOSH Farmers Helping Farmers 10 Miler, finishing in 1:01:45 and placing 3rd, in front of Scott Clark!

He won the 12.3 km Fall Frolic finishing in 46:21, beating his 2011 12.3 PB by 1:59 and coming in first out of 35 runners. What he thought was his first career Points Race win turned out to be his 2nd as he'd also won the Kent 7K Run earlier in the year.

Alex finished the PEI marathon in a blistering 2:53:47, beating his 2011 PB marathon by 18:58. He came 6th out of 293 runners, and to everyone's delight, qualified for the 2015 Boston marathon!

Alex, congratulations on winning a most fitting award for Male Roadrunner of the Year!!
